

FERPA Form
Security and Confidentiality
Policy for Student Records

Under federal and state laws, anyone who has access to student data is responsible for maintaining the confidentiality of those records; this includes not releasing information without proper authorization. Those within the University who have the right to see a student's record